County awards bridge replacement

BY BOB DEMAREE
A requirement in bid specifications that contractors be on the Indiana Department of Transportation's pre-qualified list led to the awarding of contract for a bridge replacement in Lancaster Township to R.L. Vuckson Excavating at Thursday's Commissioners meeting. The bridge project, located on County Road 750N about halfway between State Road 7 and Middlefork Road in Lancaster Township, was awarded to R.L. Vuckson Excavating of Scottsburg at a cost of $267,703 — higher than the lowest bidder, KLB Excavating of Austin, at $234,690.

However, in the ad for the bids, County Highway Superintendent Bobby Phillips said there was a stipulation that the contractor be on INDOT's pre-qualified list. "KLB has applied for that but it hasn't been accepted through INDOT yet," said Phillips, noting that approval can be a long process. He said the county highway department has in the past typically included that as a requirement on larger projects but not necessarily smaller ones.

Commissioner Bobby Little questioned Phillip's recommendation, noting KLB has done good work for the county on other projects, to which Phillips agreed that KLB has "certainly been qualified" for those projects. Little also noted that the nearly $33,000 difference between the two bids "is quite bit of a difference" and said he would prefer that the county receive that savings. However, Phillips said if the bid was awarded to KLB contrary to the advertisement "we may get some pushback from the other contractors because all the rest were INDOT pre-qualified." He also said for the county to award a contract that does not meet specified requirements would cause the county to "lose the integrity of our advertisement."

Cathy Hale, who retired at the end of last year as chief executive officer of Madison Railroad, said Vuckson "has done a lot of work for the Madison Railroad including doing our $5 million railroad bridge, and they have done excellent work."

Hanover spending ARP funds, hires 4th officer

BY BOB DEMAREE
Hanover Town Council last month approved how it will spend $647,733 in American Rescue Plan funds and now the council is moving forward with some of those expenditures.
At Tuesday's meeting, the council approved $8,380 for a new locking system at the Hanover Community Building, $7,488 for cameras at Rainbow Park and $8,811 for smart boards at town hall and community building.
The new lock system will upgrade keyed locks at the community building to use key fobs and better regulate access. The cameras at Rainbow Park will provide security to protect new equipment installed at the recently refurbished park. T smart boards will include one for use during presentations in the council chambers at the community building and the other at town hall for use by the police department.

The town council also approved the hiring of Zechariah Daniel as Hanover's fourth police officer effective Jan. 1 with a starting pay of $43,000. Hanover has had a three-person police force for more than five years after having a four officer department until Ron Kroger retired in 2016 and was not replaced. The town council had announced in August plans to hire a fourth officer once it determined there was enough funds in the budget to do that.

In other business, the council:
• Approved the hiring of Jonathan Adams, of Dupont Service, to install the town's new water meters at a cost of $45 per meter. The new meters have the capability of being read digitally with results sent to town hall, automatically calculating customers' water bills. The new water meters are being funded by a $100,000 donation to the town from the county's ARP funds. Scott Williams, superintendent of streets and utilities, said 200 meters have been ordered, and so far 100 have been received.

• Williams said the process of picking up fallen leaves throughout the town is underway, explaining that residents should rake leaves to near the curbs along roads, and should not bag leaves since machinery will come by to vacuum the loose leaves. He also

Little eventually “begrudgingly” agreed with the other Commissioners to award the bid to Vuckson because it met the specification of being on the INDOT pre-qualified list.

Other bids were from McAlister Excavating of Patriot, $335,797.75; E&B Paving of Anderson, $375,000; Louisville Paving, $384,000; and Force Construction of Columbus, $795,250.70. Phillips said the engineers’ estimate for the project was $260,490.

In other highway department business, a contract was awarded to Beam, Longest & Neff of Indianapolis for engineering services for recycling millings for road-way improvements.

In other reports, the Commissioners:

- Heard a report by Jefferson County Health Department administrator Lindsey Wyne that the department has faced a heavy workload after the Indiana Department of Health in June discontinued providing software to the county health departments to handle billing and processing after the onset of COVID-19 in 2020. “It was really nice. We were doing 90 to 100 billings per month on average” but then the state discontinued that software, “and we’re now doing 1,200 per month which has made county health department’s work overwhelming.

Wyne said other counties are also “experiencing horror stories” like JCHD, so the state has opened the software back up to counties until end of December 2023. Even so, she said they are still trying to catch up with the workload and long term solutions must be sought. “Our volunteers are amazing. If it wasn’t for them, we definitely would not be floating” above water in keeping up with the work.

- Erica Cline, the county’s archivist/grant writer, provided an update on efforts to improve broadband in Jefferson County, noting that it’s important for residents to update the broadband portal to indicate which areas are most in need of internet access. Cline said the county is working to get residents to register through that portal, and she is receiving assistance from the County Auditor’s office to be at sites when residents purchase trash cards this month to inform residents with poor internet access how to get their addresses added to the portal. “The people that need that service correlate with the people that are needing trash cards,” she said. “These internet providers need to know where you are.”

- Finalized approval of the interlocal agreement ordinance that terminates the Cable Advisory Board. Hanover Town Council had finalized approval on Tuesday but Madison City Council and Jefferson County Council still need to adopt the agreement.

FIRE

On Sunday, the fire departments responded to a farm combine that caught fire in field on the 5000 block of West Inter-development plan through the Revolving Loan Fund (RLF). Applications are due by noon on Nov. 18 with an announcement coming from the Commission on Dec. 1.

state Block Road. The implement, owned by Alan Jackson, was operating in the field when the fire began. Firefighters successfully contained the fire to the combine, preventing it from spreading in the field.

Elsewhere on Sunday, the fire departments were called to the Madison Estates Community in western Madison Township for a car fire that started in the dash of the vehicle. Black said the blaze resulted in a total loss of the vehicle but firefighters were successful in preventing spread to a nearby mobile home.

Greetings To All,

I would like to take a few moments of your time and let you know why I think I am the BEST candidate for Sheriff of Jefferson County. I believe a good Sheriff should possess confidence with an open mind and a willingness to learn. I am more than confident that I can lead the Office of Sheriff into the future with professionalism and integrity. In doing this I will be open minded to the ideas and voices of the employees, as they are the ones that have been there doing the work.

The Sheriff should posses dedication and knowledge of the peoples wants and needs of which he serves. As your Sheriff, I would be dedicated to the position and would make myself visible and readily available to the public. The Sheriff should also posses experience combined with common sense.

Ladies and Gentlemen, I've been a LIFELONG resident of Jefferson County!!!! I was born here and raised my family here. I had the want but I was unable to be a police officer as I was not able to provide the life I wanted for my family on an officers salary at that time in my life.

What I did do along with my full time job, was volunteer as a Reserve Officer, Jailer, and Dispatcher for 13 years. It was during that time that I gained experience and knowledge that a police officer receives working on the street. The Reserves duties entail a lot of special details such as working functions such as ball games, Jefferson County 4-H Fair, festivals and other county related events. Working those events put me in contact with a lot of citizens of Jefferson County where I learned and listened to their wants and needs and how things could be better or what could be done to provide the best for the county.

After raising my family and retiring, I came back to the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department as a Jail Officer and got to experience how the jail was ran in modern times. From there I became a Special Deputy with Court House Services, assisted with civil process service, and performed tasks assigned by the road deputies. Again, this was a position that put me in contact with the citizens and allowed me to experience how the services of the Sheriff's Office are carried out .

My commitment and dedication to serving those positions NEVER wavered. As your Sheriff, my commitment and dedication will never waiver. I will use all my experience, knowledge and common sense to lead and advance the Sheriff's Office into the future. Together, along with employees of the Sheriff's Office we will work as a team to provide the citizens of Jefferson County the safety and services that they deserve.

I am one of you. I have a lot of the same wants as you and as your sheriff I will not forget where I came from. So, I'm asking you to VOTE for me, TIM DAVIS for Jefferson County Sheriff on Tuesday November 8th.

Carroll's defense powers thwarts Holy Cross

Panthers to face Beechwood in second round

BY TIM HENDRICK
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

Carroll County pulled away late in a 35-6 victory over Covington Holy Cross Friday in the opening round of the KHSAA Class 2A football playoffs.

Four turnovers by Carroll in the first half — two inside the Holy Cross 10 yard line — kept the Panthers from putting the game away early but that was not a problem after halftime as Carroll finally started cashing in what was otherwise a well executed game plan.

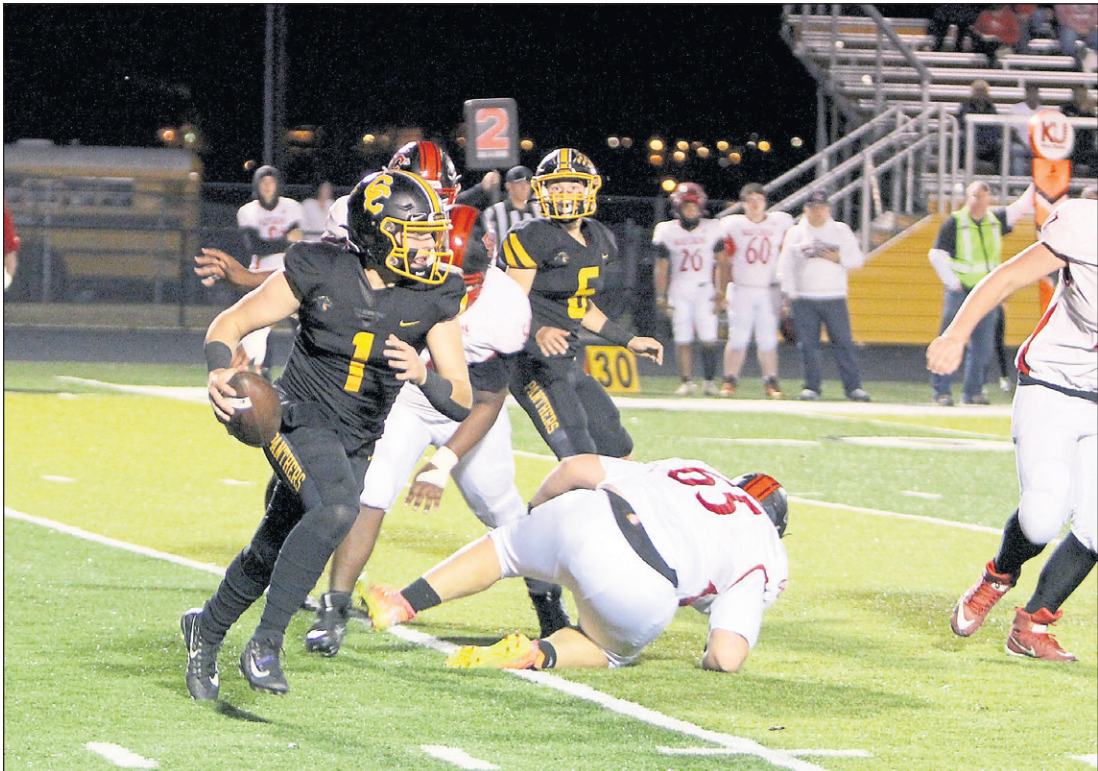

"Turnover after turnover in the first half," said head coach Lonnie Oldham. "We executed really well and did some great things but the turnovers are inexcusable. They had chances and we allowed them to hang around. It has been a penalty here, a penalty there, a dropped ball, an interception, been this way all year but we are getting better."

The first turnover came on Carroll's first drive when senior quarterback Samuel Oldham put the ball in Landon Supplee's hands but he fumbled while being tackled from behind at the 7 yard line and Holy Cross recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Carroll's second possession leaned heavily on running back Zayn Satchwell. It took him three carries to go 66 yards and finish the drive with a 6 yard touchdown run. That series, combined with Satchwell's 15 yard run on the first drive allowed Satchwell to surpass the 1,000-yard milestone on the scoring run.

Dylan Brock converted the extra point kicks — he was good on all five of Carroll's touchdowns in the game — for a 7-0 Panther lead.

Carroll needed just one play to score its second touchdown when Oldham and Parker

Samuel Oldham rolls out to the right. The senior quarterback had two touchdown passes in Friday night's playoff win.

Mumphrey hooked up a 40 yard touchdown pass to put Carroll up 14-0 midway through the first quarter.

However, a fumbled punt by Mumphrey was recovered by Holy Cross at the Carroll 3 yard line. But Holy Cross fumbled the ball back on its first play and the ball was recovered by Johnny Scherder at the 5 yard line.

Holy Cross scored its lone touchdown of the game after Thomas Maddox carried for 44 yards to the Carroll one yard line and Landyn Phillips scored to make it 14-6 with 8:16 left in the second quarter as Owen Stark blocked the extra point attempt.

On Carroll's next offensive possession the Panthers fumbled at the Holy Cross 21 yard line but the defense went on to hold Holy Cross on downs.

Carroll's offense couldn't take advantage of the defensive stop as Oldham threw an interception that was returned 54 yards to the Carroll 21 yard line.

The Panther defense held again and Oldham and Mumphrey almost hooked up for a third score before just halftime but Holy Cross made a touchdown saving tackle at the 7 yard line and Carroll was called for a chop block to nullify the gain.

The half went on to end 14-6.

The second half began with the teams trading possessions until Satchell ripped off a 64 yard touchdown run to push Carroll ahead 21-6 with 5:40 to play in the third quarter. Satchwell added a third touchdown of the game on a 26 yard run at the end of the quarter to allow Carroll to take a 28-6 lead into the fourth quarter.

Panthers fall from HCAC title contention

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Hanover saw its hopes for a Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference football championship dashed with a 47-17 loss to Rose-Hulman at home on Saturday.

The Panthers came into the game one game back of both Rose and Mount St. Joseph in the standings. With those two playing each other this weekend in the season finale, a win over Rose would have kept Hanover in the hunt.

The Panthers stayed close throughout the first half, trailing only 24-17 at the break, but Rose-Hulman dominated the second half and pulled away for the 30-point win.

Hanover quarterback Matthew Weimer was held to just 178 yards with one interception on 16-of-32 passing while the Panthers managed just 65 yards on the ground. Austin Oppel led the ground game with 43 yards on 17 carries to go with five catches for 75 yards. Weimer scored Hanover's two touchdowns, both on the ground.

Hanover, now 4-5 overall and 4-2 HCAC, wraps up the season this Saturday when it travels to Franklin for the annual Victory Bell game. The Panthers saw their three-game win streak in that series snapped a year ago with a 27-16 loss at home.

MEN'S SOCCER FALLS IN PKS

Penalty kicks proved to be the difference as Rose-Hulman outlasted Hanover 2-1 (5-4) in a shootout in the HCAC men's soccer tournament championship on Saturday in Terre Haute.

Both teams scored on penalty kicks in regulation — Hanover in the 16th minute by Joao Domenici and Rose in the 78th by Takezo Kelly — and played through two scoreless overtime periods before heading to a shootout to decide the title and automatic bid to the NCAA Division III tourney.

Both teams made four of their first five attempts in the shootout, forcing an extra kick which Rose

JGR co-owner dies hours after son wins title

BY JENNA FRYER
AP AUTO RACING WRITER

AVONDALE, Ariz. — Coy Gibbs, the vice chairman of Joe Gibbs Racing for his NFL and NASCAR Hall of Fame father, died Sunday morning just hours after his son won the Xfinity Series championship. He was 49.

“It is with great sorrow that Joe Gibbs Racing confirms that Coy Gibbs (co-owner) went to be with the Lord in his sleep last night. The family appreciates all the thoughts and prayers and asks for privacy at this time,” the team said in a statement released shortly before the start of the NASCAR season finale.

Joe Gibbs has lost both of his sons. J.D. Gibbs died in 2019 of degenerative neurological disease, and was also 49 at the time of his death. Coy Gibbs succeeded his older brother as vice chairman of the family-run NASCAR organization.

“We are heartbroken by the tragic loss of Coy Gibbs. On behalf of the France Family and all of NASCAR, I extend my deepest condolences to Joe, Pat, Heather, the Gibbs family and everyone at Joe Gibbs Racing on the loss of Coy, a true friend and racer,” said NASCAR Chairman and CEO Jim France.

NASCAR held a moment of silence for Coy Gibbs before the start of the Cup championship Sunday at Phoenix Raceway, where JGR’s Christopher Bell was racing for the title. Kyle Busch, in his final race after 15 years with the team, was crying on pit road before the start of the race.

“Today we will do what we don’t want to do, but we will unite as a family and race for the name on our chest,” JGR driver Denny Hamlin tweeted.

Ty Gibbs had been scheduled to drive the No. 23 for 23XI Racing but was replaced by Daniel Hemric for what 23XI called “a family emergency.” Jackson Gibbs, son of the late J.D. Gibbs, was on Bell’s pit crew Sunday and worked the race.

Coy Gibbs had just closed a tumultuous week with his 20-year-old son, who won the Xfinity title on Saturday and is soon expected to be named Kyle Busch’s replacement at JGR.

But Ty Gibbs has been criticized this year for aggressive driving and last week wrecked teammate Brandon Jones out of the lead at Martinsville Speedway on the final lap. Jones needed to win the race to make the Xfinity championship and JGR and Toyota would have had two cars in the finale had Gibbs just stayed in second.

“Racing is a family and the relationships within the entire garage go so much deeper than on-track competition. Today, we lost a dear part of our family. The loss of Coy Gibbs is devastating to everyone at Toyota and TRD,” said David Wilson, president of Toyota Racing Development.

On Saturday, shortly before Ty Gibbs won his title, Hamlin said it had been a difficult week at JGR. He had tweeted after Ty Gibbs crashed Jones “I miss J.D.” and explained he was referring to the atmosphere at JGR established by J.D. Gibbs, which he called a “tight family unit.”

“We really have to treat (teammates) like they’re our brother and our family, and I think at times at JGR, we probably work with each other the least amount of any other team, and that’s just the facts,” he said. “I’m not saying it’s anyone’s fault currently, but J.D. was just different because he really wrapped his arms around everyone. I told Coy, ‘J.D. was my dad.’ He was really my dad as soon as I came into the series, so when you lose that, it changes the culture a little bit, and we just have to get it back.”

Joe Gibbs and Coy Gibbs spent the days after Martinsville defending their young driver, who was resoundingly booed at both Martinsville and Phoenix after his back-to-back victories. Ty Gibbs made his own humbling apology tour before holding off Noah Gragson for the championship.

“Prayers to the Gibbs family,” tweeted Gragson, who had open animosity toward Ty Gibbs most of the Xfinity season before congratulating him following Saturday’s title.

Coy Gibbs played line-backer at Stanford from 1991-94 and served as an offensive quality control assistant during his father’s second stint as the Washington NFL coach. Gibbs had a short racing career, including two years in the then-NASCAR Busch Series and three in NASCAR’s Trucks Series before helping his father launch Joe Gibbs Racing Motocross in 2007.

Coy Gibbs was born in Fayetteville, Arkansas, and lived in Cornelius, North Carolina, with his wife Heather and four children.

Logano wins at Phoenix to earn NASCAR Cup championship

BY JENNA FRYER
AP AUTO RACING WRITER

AVONDALE, Ariz. — Joey Logano won his second NASCAR championship to give Roger Penske two titles in the same season with a victory in Sunday’s winner-take-all finale at Phoenix Raceway.

It was the fourth win of the season for Logano, who opened the year with a January win in an exhibition race at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum in the debut of NASCAR’s new Next Gen car. Less than a month later, rookie teammate Austin Cindric won the Daytona 500 on Penske’s 85th birthday.

Will Power added the IndyCar championship to the Team Penske trophy case in September and Logano’s dominating run Sunday marked the first time Penske has won both the NASCAR and IndyCar championship in the same season.

“I knew going into this thing that we’re going to win the championship. I told the guys we were the favorite from Daytona, and we truly believed it, and that’s the difference,” Logano said. “I had a good team with a bunch of confidence, and we had all the reason in the world to be confident. I’ve never been truly this ready for a championship race, and yeah, we did it, man. I can’t believe it.”

Logano was met after the win by his wife and 4-year-old son, Hudson, the oldest of his three children and only one to make the trip to Phoenix. Logano took Hudson by the hand and ran up the banking to collect the checkered flag.

His son skipped back down the track, waving the flag and holding his champion father’s hand. Logano had promised Hudson he’d win the championship.

“We’ve had so many conversations over the last couple weeks before bedtime. First was ‘Daddy is going to get a pole, and he’s going to meet me out here and we’re going to win the race,’ and I couldn’t be a liar to my son,” Logano said.

Logano then drove Hudson inside the No. 22 Ford to the championship stage.

“I always wanted to do that with Hudson. He’s such a little car guy. It was a special moment to ride together,” Logano said.

Logano at 32 was the oldest driver in the championship four, as well as the only one who is married with children. The Next Gen equaled the competition this season and the Cup Series celebrated 19 different winners, including five first-timers and two drivers making their first appearance in the championship race.

Even with the parity, Logano never doubted this would be his season.

“Getting the bookends, the first and the last race, means a lot,” Logano said. “It’s just a really special year for us with our third baby, and 22 in ‘22, I told you so!”

It is the third Cup championship for Penske, who won with Brad Keselowski in 2012 and Logano’s first title in 2018. Logano joined Kyle Busch as the only active drivers with multiple Cup titles.

Logano won the pole and was never really challenged on Sunday as his Ford led 186 of the 312 laps, and he was not the highest running title contender for only one lap. He’s the first Ford driver to win two Cup titles since David Pearson in 1968 and 1969.

It is the second Cup championship for crew chief Paul Wolfe, who won with Keselowski in 2012.

Ross Chastain finished third in his championship race debut, and Christopher Bell was 10th in his debut. Bell raced hours after Joe Gibbs Racing learned vice chairman Coy Gibbs, son of the Hall of Fame team owner, died in his sleep at 49.

“You wake up this morning and you’re racing for a championship, you’re happy, you’re elated, and then your world comes crashing down,” Bell said. “Whenever you get news like that, it definitely puts it in perspective that there’s much more to this outside of racing.”

Chase Elliott was spun by Chastain early in the final stage, his Chevrolet hit the wall and he was immediately out of contention. It snapped Hendrick Motorsports streak of two consecutive Cup titles.

NASCAR’s most popular driver won a career-high five races this year and the regular-season championship, but Elliott lost his shot at a second championship when he cut across the front of Chastain and Chastain refused to lift. The contact sent Elliott spinning into the wall, he dropped to 30th and down a lap during the repairs, and finished 28th.

“Just disappointed, obviously, ended our day and ended our chance at a win or a championship. Just disappointing,” Elliott said.

Logano, who started his career with JGR and spent five seasons there before he was fired after the 2012 season, gave his regards to the Gibbs family after the win.

“I don’t know what to think, but obviously my condolences go to the Gibbs family,” Logano said. “But just an incredible day for us, and kind of mixed emotions at the moment.”

Mom worries about disclosing affair

Dear Amy: I have been married to the same man for 52 years.

Thirty-six years ago, I had a child, who is a product of an affair.

I had two boys already when my third son was born.

My husband was away during a military tour when the affair happened.

I wanted a divorce, but my husband fought for our relationship.

The father of my child was years younger than I. My husband accepted this child as his own.

When this son was 2 years old, his biological father died in a car accident.

His biological father had never seen my son. We never told my son that my husband is not his biological father.

I am feeling guilty about not telling my son, but my husband is against it.

My two other sons know, but he does not know. He is 36 years old now.

Should I tell him? I am feeling so guilty that he does not know. — Wishing

Dear Wishing: Yes, you should tell your son the truth about his biological parentage and provide him with information about his biological father.

This will likely be hard on all of you, but the rest of the family knows this essential truth about your youngest son, and he deserves to know the truth, too.

People who learn the truth of their DNA later in life sometimes report that this knowledge helped to fill in gaps or answer longstanding questions they've had about their identity.

we welcomed her. She then brought in her son and his girlfriend, who ensconced themselves at our bar.

They all seemed friendly enough, but when the guests were leaving, they asked to stay. I said: "Last call." They wanted to stay longer, offered to help clean up, tour the house, use the bathroom (they live a block away!).

I finally got them to leave by sending them with to-go drinks.

They have already asked me once, in passing, if we will host again (they can see into our yard from their place).

I don't have a good feeling about them in our home.

Should I host, and if they show up, say "private party."?

I don't want to be friends, but we are neighbors. Help!

— Hospitality Has Limits

Dear Limits: If these neighbors approach you to ask if you are planning to hold a party — any party — you should say, "Nope. No plans."

And then you should host any party you want to host. If these people show up, greet them outside the entrance, say a friendly "Hi, I can't talk right now because I've got some guests here."

If they try to invite themselves in, you'll have to be friendly but firm, and tell them that it's a private party and that you'll catch up with them another time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — High hopes and expectations could get out of hand. Anticipated profits or income might not live up to your expectations. You may realize that something that looks like a bargain could have serious drawbacks.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Nip emerging problems in the bud. Family issues or disputes may briefly conflict with other obligations or your schedule. Put your most crucial plans on hold for the next several days while you iron out the details.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Don't let good ideas or inspirational insights go to waste. Write them down so you can use them when the timing is better. Work-related responsibilities or business issues could interfere with some social plans.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Financial surprises or worries may briefly turn your day upside down. Someone might ask for more than you can reasonably deliver. You may need to navigate tricky cross currents that you can't quite predict.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Sometimes it's a real razor's edge to walk, remaining true to yourself versus holding the attitudes and demonstrating the behaviors that others approve of. If relationships require handling with kid gloves, find the right balance..

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — It takes two to tango and to argue, and everyone could use sensitivity training sometimes. Suggest outdoor sports or activities where you and loved ones can let off steam more constructively.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Financial obligations and people in need could seem to take up a lot of time now. A coworker might seem to push your buttons just to see how far they can go. Be compassionate; hurt people hurt people.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — A change of heart or misunderstanding could upset your plans. Conflicting feelings may tempt you to consider breaking off with someone. Follow the rules and do not initiate a new project or relationship.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Avoid an argument now, someone's competitiveness could trigger your discomfort and insecurities and blind you to common sense. There will be a better way to resolve things if you give it a little time.

Host with most wants these guests least

Dear Amy: My husband and I have lived in our neighborhood for about 10 years. We're friendly and neighborly.

One house has always been a "trouble" house. Loud arguments are heard, the SWAT team showed up to arrest an adult son (yikes), neighbors accuse the kids of stealing tools from their shed, and recently police were there again, with reports of gunshots fired.

Last summer, we hosted a backyard party and set up a bar in our basement.

The mother from that house came by, uninvited. Not wanting to be rude, we welcomed her. She then brought in her son and his girlfriend, who ensconced themselves at our bar.

They all seemed friendly enough, but when the guests were leaving, they asked to stay. I said: "Last call." They wanted to stay longer, offered to help clean up, tour the house, use the bathroom (they live a block away!).

I finally got them to leave by sending them with to-go drinks.

They have already asked me once, in passing, if we will host again (they can see into our yard from their place).

I don't have a good feeling about them in our home. Should I host, and if they show up, say "private party."?

I don't want to be friends, but we are neighbors. Help!

— Hospitality Has Limits

Dear Limits: If these neighbors approach you to ask if you are planning to hold a party — any party — you should say, "Nope. No plans."

And then you should host any party you want to host. If these people show up, greet them outside the entrance, say a friendly "Hi, I can't talk right now because I've got some guests here."

SUDOKU

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Slow down, remain upbeat, and take it easy. Let your words flow gently, TMI or too-fast talk might confuse an issue and be counter-productive. This is a poor time to make major purchases or make changes to your investments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20) — You might find it difficult to sort the innocent from the guilty. Someone could be controlling and demanding but despite tensions you sense their affection and commitment. Avoid launching plans or new initiatives.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Be realistic and don't count your chickens before they hatch. Turn your enthusiasm down a notch so you do not overwhelm bystanders. This is not a good time to make decisions or dream up schemes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — The race might be won by the swift, but in your case, it could be perseverance that gives you the edge. When everyone else is over it and ready to quit, you likely are willing to dig in and keep on keepin' on.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You might be challenged to deal with the good, the bad, or the ugly truth. Hold off on negotiations or making a promise since it could involve undisclosed responsibilities. It may be difficult to achieve a compromise.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Your hard work is appreciated. Loved ones whose good opinion you trust the most might be more understanding than ever. A partner may be irritable occasionally but so is everyone; don't take it personally.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Lock up the credit card and hide the key. Your good taste is obvious, but this is a poor time to add to your debt load. It may be tempting to spend money you have been saving for your security to satisfy a short-term urge.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Enduring love can conquer passing hardships. Don't let a disagreement or downturn in your family harmony cause long-term resentment. Even if criticism seems unfair, you could still learn something important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec.

21) — Most things worth doing can entail some risk. People are counting on you — don't neglect important duties or risk criticism at this time. Keep a low profile, tread carefully and wait to present new ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Achieving your big ambitions might mean taking on bigger responsibilities. You may be surprised by the burden of an unexpected financial obligation. Be sure to pay bills on time and honor your commitments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You might think you are just being efficient. Someone else may think that your attitude reflects a disregard for their feelings. Do not let a chilly response from a loved one or boss spark an unnecessary argument.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Playing the victim won't make problems go away. Keep your issues mostly to yourself while you process them completely. Learning from your part of a situation allows you to take a real step into your power.

Mixon scores 5 TDs as Bengals dominate Panthers 42-21

BY MITCH STACY

CINCINNATI — A home-made sign hanging high in Paycor Stadium advised fans to “Stay Calm and Let Joe Cook.”

The message surely was a nod to quarterback Joe Burrow, who usually stirs the pot for the Cincinnati Bengals. But it was another Joe who did most of the cooking against the Carolina Panthers.

Joe Mixon turned in his best effort of the season, rushing for 153 yards and scoring a franchise-record five touchdowns as the Bengals built a 35-0 halftime lead and cruised to a 42-21 rout of the Panthers on Sunday.

Mixon, who came into the game with three TDs all year, scored four times in the first half alone, the first three on short rushes and the fourth on a 12-yard pass from Burrow, who finished 22 for 28 for 206 yards before taking a seat in favor of backup Brandon Allen late in the third quarter.

The Bengals (5-4)

bounced back from a horrendous Monday night loss at AFC North rival Cleveland to jump on Carolina (2-7) early and dominate on defense.

“To come out here today and have a complete game and pass protection when my number was called, and then deliver for my teammates, Burrow and the receivers, and be able to hit the right holes and do all the things to have a complete game, bro, I mean you can’t ask for much better,” Mixon said.

Cincinnati allowed P.J. Walker just 9 passing yards and intercepted him twice in the first half, chasing the former XFL quarterback to the bench in favor of Baker Mayfield to start the second.

Meanwhile, Mixon, who came in with zero 100-yard games this season, had 113 rushing yards by halftime. An overhauled offensive line that has been criticized for failing to break open the running game pushed around the Panthers’ defense.

“Great players want the ball,” Cincinnati coach Zac Taylor said of Mixon, who had seen his role reduced this season. “He’s a captain. He’s handled this thing really well. A lot of these guys know that sometimes their number isn’t called as a much and then there’s a game that’s going to smack them right in the face like this one.”

Mixon also caught four passes for 58 yards. He had gained only 27 yards on eight carries in the 32-13 loss to the Browns.

Mixon became the first NFL player with 150-plus yards and four or more touchdowns from scrimmage in the first half of a game since Shaun Alexander did it for the Seahawks in Week 4 of the 2002 season.

Changes bring few fixes for Colts in latest setback to Pats

BY BRENDAN MCGAIR

FOXBOROUGH, Mass. — After a week that featured another round of noticeable changes, Colts coach Frank Reich chose to point the finger at himself after Indianapolis failed to find the end zone in Sunday’s 26-3 loss to the New England Patriots.

“Starting with me, right? That’s what I said in the locker room. The offensive performance, that’s why I was brought here. That’s my responsibility,” Reich said. “We’ve got the players that are plenty good enough. I have to do a better job. It starts with me on offense. I need to do a better job getting the guys ready to play, putting guys in a good position to win and having answers when we face problems.”

For a team that fired offensive coordinator Marcus Brady, traded running back Nyheim Hines in the past week and isn’t far removed from benching opening day starting quarterback Matt Ryan, it’s unclear what’s next for the Colts.

Indianapolis has now dropped three straight. And at 3-5-1, the Colts are on the outside of the AFC playoff race.

Finding a fix for the offensive ineptitude that was on display on Sunday would be a good place to start. The Colts finished with a season-low 121 total yards and went 0 for 14 on third down. Six times, they went three-and-out.

“I certainly did not anticipate today. I really didn’t. I mean, I was really anticipating good things. I think we all were, but I think that’s why we’re wired like we’re wired. That’s why we do what we do because we believe,” Reich said.

“We believe in what we’re doing and we believe in who we’re doing it with. We fight, we scratch, we claw. Sometimes it works out for you and sometimes it doesn’t, but you keep fighting.”

The season-long problems related to pass protection continue to plague the Colts, who entered Week 9 ranked 30th in points per game.

Haliburton added nine assists and nine rebounds, just missing a triple double.

Tyler Herro had a chance to with the game for the Heat with 1.3 seconds left, but his 3-pointer missed the mark.

Alvarez blasts Baker, Astros to World Series title

BY STEPHEN HAWKINS
AP BASEBALL WRITER

HOUSTON — Yordan Alvarez hit a moon shot that sent Space City into a frenzy, and the Houston Astros to their second World Series title.

While the stain on Houston's first championship might never completely fade, Alvarez's majestic three-run homer helped fashion a fresh crown for the Astros — and the first for Dusty Baker as manager — in a 4-1 win over the Philadelphia Phillies in Game 6 on Saturday night.

“What happened before, it doesn't ever pass over completely,” said Baker, the veteran manager hired by the Astros in the wake of their sign-stealing scandal. “But we have turned the page and hopefully we'll continue this run.”

Alvarez blasted a ball over the 40-foot batter's eye in center field during the sixth inning immediately after Phillies starter Zack Wheeler was pulled with a 1-0 lead.

As Alvarez's 450-foot shot sailed, Astros starter Framber Valdez jumped and wildly screamed in the dugout while the crowd of 42,958 went crazy waving orange rally towels.

“When I was rounding second base, I felt the whole stadium moving,” Alvarez said through a translator.

The 73-year-old Baker finally got his first title in his 25th season as a manager. He's spent the past three with the Astros after they hired him to help the team regain credibility after their trash can banging scheme cost manager A.J. Hinch and general manager Jeff Luhnow their jobs, and made Houston the most reviled team in baseball.

“I wasn't here in 2017, but it's definitely a weight off of everybody's shoulders. Ain't nobody can say (anything) now,” said closer Ryan Pressly, who finished the Series with another scoreless inning.

Baker, who won a World Series as a player with the Los Angeles Dodgers and had been to the Fall Classic twice before as a skipper, is the oldest championship manager in any of the four major North American sports. The win came 20 years after a near-miss, when he came within five outs of taking the title while guiding the San Francisco Giants.

“What's next? I said if I win one, I want to win two,” Baker said afterward.

Houston's coaching and training staffs circled around Baker after Nick Castellanos fled out to end it, jumping up and down, and chanting “Dusty! Dusty! Dusty!” in the dugout before they joined the players on the field. Astros rookie shortstop Jeremy Peña was the World Series MVP after getting another key hit, a single to set up Alvarez's homer. The 25-year-old star born in the Dominican Republic also won a Gold Glove award and AL Championship Series MVP — Peña is the first hitter to win those three awards in a career, and he did it all in his first season, per OptaSTATS.

Jerseys worn by Peña and Baker during the Series were headed to the Hall of Fame.

A year after watching the Atlanta Braves clinch the World Series title at Minute Maid Park, Justin Verlander and the Astros went 11-2 in the postseason and became the first team to seal the championship at home since the 2013 Boston Red Sox.

Alvarez homered for the first time since going deep in the first two games this postseason. Christian Vázquez added an RBI single later in the inning to make it 4-1.

Valdez earned his second win of this Series. He had been in the dugout only a few minutes after throwing his 93rd and final pitch while striking out nine over six innings.

But the lefty had walked off the mound with the wild-card Phillies up 1-0 on Kyle Schwarber's homer leading off the sixth.

Schwarber, who hit his third homer in the past four games, rounded the bases waving his raised empty hand in the same motion as the fans with their towels. But by the time Schwarber batted in the eighth, the NL's home run leader was reduced to bunting, trying for a hit to stir a dormant Phillies offense. His bunt went foul with two strikes, resulting in a strikeout.

In the sixth, Houston got two runners on base against Wheeler for the first time in the game, when Martín Maldonado was hit by a pitch, Jose Altuve grounded into a forceout and Peña singled. Phillies manager Rob Thomson went to left-handed reliever José Alvarado to face the lefty slugger for the fourth time in the series — Alvarez had popped out twice and been hit by a pitch the first three times.

“I thought Wheels still had really good stuff. It wasn't about that. It was just I thought the matchup was better with Alvarado on Alvarez at that time,” Thomson said.

And Alvarado had allowed only three homers to lefty hitters in his six big league seasons, until his 2-1 pitch, when Alvarez crushed the 99 mph sinker.

“It's kind of a dirty inning and I thought, I mean, going into the series it was always kind of Alvarado on Alvarez,” Thomson said. “It was the sixth inning and I felt like the normal back end of the bullpen guys could get through it.”

Alvarez hadn't homered since Game 2 of the AL Division Series against Seattle, when his two-run shot in the sixth inning put them up to stay. That came after his game-ending, three-run shot in Game 1 for an 8-7 win. Houston won an American League-best 106 games and reached its fourth World Series during a span in which it made it to the AL Championship Series six seasons in a row. The Astros made their only other World Series appearance in 2005, while still in the National League, and were swept in four games by the Chicago White Sox.

This was their third ALCS and second consecutive World Series since former Astros pitcher Mike Fiers revealed after the 2019 season, when he had gone from Houston for two years since being part of their 2017 championship, that the team had used a camera in center field to steal signs and signal hitters on which pitches to expect by banging on a garbage can.

“That will probably never go away but I think this just proves how good this team is and how good it's been for a long time,” Astros owner Jim Crane said on the field afterward.

Philadelphia was 22-29 when Joe Girardi was fired in early June and replaced by bench coach Thomson, the 59-year-old baseball lifer getting his first chance a big league manager — he was on the Yankees big league staff for 10 seasons with Girardi, and was part of their last World Series and title in 2009.

The Phillies finished the regular season 65-46 under Thomson, their 87 wins good for the sixth and final spot in the NL playoffs, on the way to their first World Series did tonight. I am not intimidated to go up there and play them, our boys will not be intimidated, we will have a good week of practice and game preparation.

“If we execute we might surprise some people,” Oldham added. “We have nothing to lose, half the state went home tonight and we are still playing.”
